At E Source Forum 2018 in Denver, E Source announced the winners of its 2018 Utility Ad Awards Contest. First place in the categories of Best Energy-Efficiency and Demand-Response Programs Campaign and Best Brand Campaign went to PNM and Duke Energy, respectively. Sacramento Municipal Utility District (SMUD) earned first place in the category of Best Distributed Energy Resources Campaign, and ComEd won first place for Best Self-Service Campaign. The contest was open to electric and gas utilities in the US and Canada.

An independent group of judges selected the winners based on message, creativity, results, call to action or brand connection, and overall impression. Judges included Mindy Cheval, University of Colorado at Boulder, School of Journalism and Mass Communication; Lucia Riley, SAS; A.J. Schmitz, Progressive Marketing Group (PMG); and Arthur Germain and Michael Simbrom, Communication Strategy Group.

"We're thrilled to celebrate the 10th anniversary of our utility ad contest. Over the past decade, we've received more than 3,000 ad submissions to populate E Source Energy AdVision, a database tool that gives our utility members access to this vast library of campaigns," says Sannie Sieper, director of marketing at E Source. "This contest has put us in the unique position of witnessing utilities adapt to the changing advertising landscape, adopt new technologies and platforms, and meet ever-changing customer needs. E Source congratulates these innovative marketing and advertising teams!"
